Weak, Weary Women

Learn the Cause of Daily Woes and End Them

When the back aches and throbs, When housework is torture, When night brings no rest nor sleep, When urinary disorders set in, Women's lot is a weary one.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Have proved their worth in Norway. This is one Norway woman's testimony.

Mrs. W. J. Olmstead, 95 Main St., says: "Four years ago my kidneys began to give me trouble. They were weak. My back ached so badly I could hardly get through with my housework. Everything I undertook to do seemed a drag for me. I was dizzy and could see little star-like spots before my eyes. My feet and ankles swelled. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills being so good and got four boxes and when I had finished taking them, I felt as well as ever. The backache ceased and my kidneys became regulated. I have told a number of people about Doan's Kidney Pills and never fail to recommend them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Olmstead had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

After the supper which was enjoyed by about ninety of the church going people of the town and those interested in the federation of the two churches of this village. Everyone seemed in favor of making the change and committees were appointed and steps taken to hasten the work along.

On Sunday, Dr. Hamlin occupied the pulpit at a union service at the Congregational Church. A large number enjoyed the morning, as well as the evening, service. Next Sunday union services will again be held at the Congregational Church.

WEST FRYEBURG

The farmers in this section are busy harvesting their crops. The corn yield was very large and secured in fine condition. Their silos are all filled and their attention is now turned to potato digging. A few of the more fortunate ones, including George Brock, Fred Mesereau, and Hutchins Bros., are harvesting large quantities.

Mrs. Mary Gardiner has had a vacation of some weeks at her son's home in Kearsarge, N. H.

Mrs. James Hardy remains in poor health.

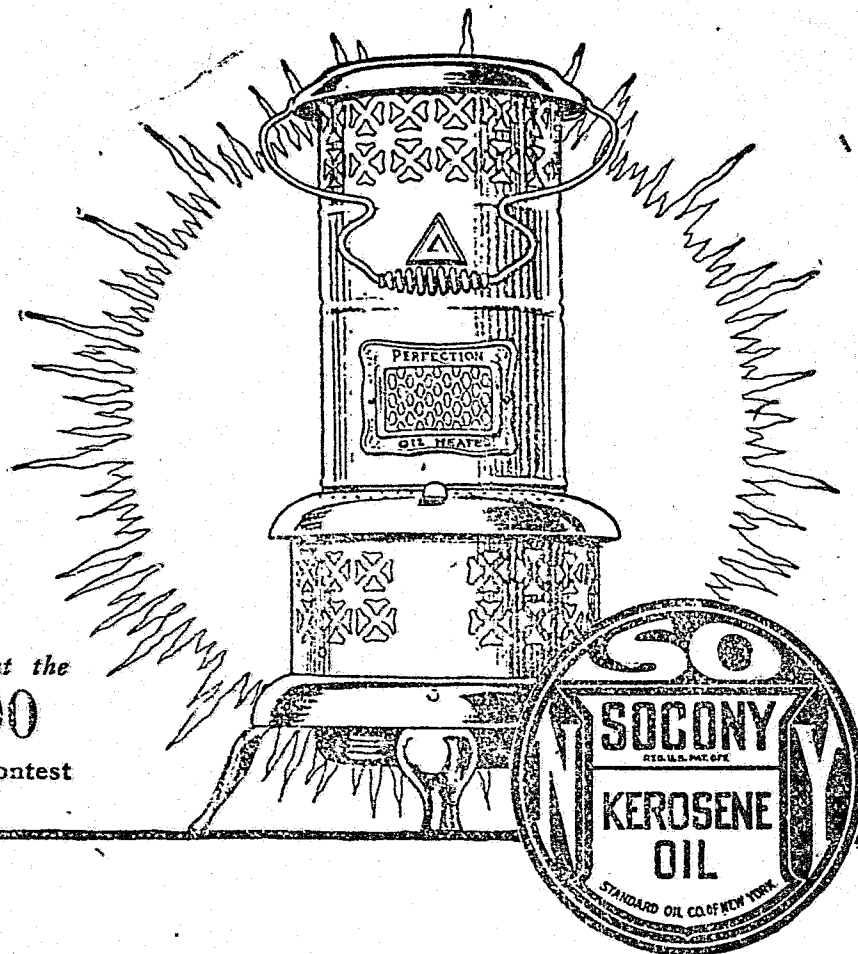

A number of the "family lots" in the cemetery are being much improved, and yet, there is room for more improvements.

A number from this section attended the burial service of Leon Hill at Green-Hill, October 4, whose passing was under sad circumstances. An exemplary young man, leaving a little family to battle with the world.

The auction at Everett Goodrich's of Fryeburg Center was well patronized by the chattels passing this street.

PERFECTION Oil Heaters

Ask your dealer about the $5,000.00
Perfection Heater Contest

AUTUMN days are here, and with them chilly nights and mornings. Take the chill out of the house by using a Perfection Oil Heater.

It will provide heat exactly where and when you want it—in the bathroom and breakfast room in the morning, in the living room or sleeping room at night.

A Perfection Heater postpones the day when really cold weather compels you to light the furnace, and even then it will be found a great comfort and convenience as an auxiliary heater, when the furnace fire is low, or some room is particularly exposed to a wintry gale.

You will find, too, many extra uses for this portable Heater, such as heating shaving water of baby's milk, drying wet clothes, etc.

The Perfection Oil Heater is handsome, compact and durable, and much cheaper in operation than coal. Millions in use today.

Hardware, housefurnishing and department stores sell Perfection Heaters.

Ask your dealer to show you one, and explain its construction and smokeless wick adjustment feature.

For best results use Socony Kerosene.

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock High School opened its football season at Bryant's Pond, Oct. 8, with Norway. The game was fast and clean, being featured by the long gains of Billings and DeShon. Too much praise cannot be given to the "scrappy" little Woodstock team. Every man played for all that was in him, and up to the last period, however, Norway's weight took which resulted in a score of 21 to 14 in favor of Norway.

On Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 27, the girls of Woodstock High School, with all the lady teachers of the building as guests, went on their annual hike. They tramped to Edwin Thompson's farm on the Rumford road, where they selected a nice sheltered place and built a fire. Soon coffee, bacon, and frankfurts were cooking, there with bread, pickles, doughnuts, and marshmallows furnished a lunch which was greatly enjoyed. After the eatables were all devoured, amid much singing and cheering, the girls started for home, declaring this trip the very best one they had ever taken.

EAST SUMNER

The Grange Fair was a great success and a great credit to those whose efforts made October 6 the enjoyable occasion that it was. The village was thronged with visitors, many of whom were from out of town. Dinner and supper were served at the Grange Hall and at the vestry. About $200 were added to the treasury.

Owing to the illness of Rev. W. G. Berkeley there was no preaching service, Sunday. The evening meeting was led by Esther Eastman Merrill.

Several ladies climbed to the summit of "the pinnacle" from which they viewed a most wonderful sight. On all sides the landscape glowed with the brilliant autumn foliage, while off in the west, the snow-capped White Mountains stood out against the dark blue sky. The party descended the north side of the pinnacle, and called on Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Roberts, who welcomed them most heartily. After a pleasantly spent hour, the return trip was made by highway.

Mrs. Lois Cobb, who has been confined to her bed for three weeks, was taken by auto to Kennebunk, Friday, where she will live with her son Henry; for some time she has lived with her son, James. At both places she is cared for most tenderly.

RANDOM NOTES ON SPORTING TOPICS

Raymond has been visited three times in the last eight days of September. Three nights were spent at the Lake View Farm. Twenty-four hours in casting a fly at the mouth of the Jordan and not a salmon came to it. Not so with all the fishermen but pretty nearly so as only two fish were taken. An 8 1-2 pound salmon was brought to the net by C. F. Van Dusen of New York on a jungle-cock-see and four days later a five pound fish was dragged out on a "professor" by Bob somebody, a native, whose name I do not recall.

This was the extent of salmon catching for September at the mouth of the Jordan River, which is the outlet of the Panther Pond. On this stream is the State Hatchery where some 1500 salmon are impounded and stripped each year by Mr. Libby, the hatchery superintendent.

I am told few salmon come to a fly in September when the weather is warm as it has been this year. A heavy frost and a cold spell about the middle of the month put biting life into the fish. It certainly held true this season as there were many fishermen who worked persistently with results as stated above.

At the mouth of Big Brook in Kezar Lake, only two salmon have been taken as far as I know. It was fished continuously for the last ten days of the month.

Frank Herriek of East Stoneham and Norway is reported to have caught one salmon from Pennessessee Lake that weighed 4 pounds. Also another weighing a little less came from the same water.

Partridges are more numerous than for several years past and there are some woodcock, too.

Capt. M. W. Sampson and Col. A. L. Cook of Norway are devoting their time and energy to the hunt. Each day they come close to the limit.

E. B. Hastings of Fryeburg and his friends are at Mr. Hastings' camp at Lower Kezar and report ducks are coming in about as usual.

E. C. Kennard of White's Bridge, at the outlet of Sebago Lake has the largest and most varied collection of Indian-made stone implements we have ever seen. They were nearly all found in that vicinity and include about everything from stone needles to war clubs.

Three generations of Kennards have been collecting. The grandfather, settling there, commenced gathering in the last decade of 1700. A spacious cupboard which is kept under lock and key, is well filled. We spent some time in examining them and listening to Mr. Kennard's interesting story regarding them and their uses.

Prof. Moorhead of Amherst College has examined these specimens several times and pronounces it the largest local collection of the stone age in the state.

We were generously offered an interesting specimen, but declined, saying our only interest in "a specimen" was in finding it. "A hunt" on the rocky banks of the outlet was proposed and we soon picked up a fairly good stone-cut implement. We somehow entertain a suspicion that it was "a plant" that came from our host's cupboard. However that may be, we found it.

About a mile below "the bridge" is the dam which raises the water of Sebago about 5 feet and the old banks cannot be examined except in low water and the number of Indian relics and amount of Indian pottery gathered grows less each year.

Several salmon were seen in the pool below the bridge. They would occasionally roll on top of the water in a tempting manner, but would take no notice of fly, bait or spoon. They were not feeding. That is the size of it.

There are several nice cottages and comfortable homes here. Many motor boats and one good sized steam propelled boat that must be good to troll from as it moves noiselessly and very slowly. We were told many good salmon are brought out of the water into that craft each year. Some the past season that weighed more than a dozen pounds each. Mr. Kennard owns the boat and does guiding as well as serving the State as fish and game warden.

We were also told the ice seldom forms over the channel during winter and that the sand bar is so densely covered with salmon about the middle of November that you could walk on them. This occurs after the stripped at the hatchery are turned back to the lake.

The Presumpscot river begins below the dam and the water is let down in the Old Canal, furnishing power at a half dozen places before it reaches the ocean. The water is controlled by the S. D. Warren Paper Co., whose principal mills are at Westbrook, where the barbers have recently reduced the price of a hair cut from 50 cents to 35.

By the way, our friend, George Cushman of Portland, who was instrumental in getting us to White's Bridge, was not there. He is a game warden and goes where duty calls. He called there the day before en route to Brownfield where illegal bird shooting was reported and we failed to learn the outcome of the case.

At West Gray we called at the store and were told a story of the profits for eleven months from a flock of hens. Col. C. E. Nason who owns the flock agreed to send it to us, and here it is.

"Dear Sir: I am enclosing, as I promised you, a statement of the account of my 50 pullets for the eleven months of the fiscal year ending Nov. 1, 1921.

Making Extraordinary Mileage a Certainty

Car Owners want more rubber on the tread where the wear is hardest; more gum between cord plies to perfect a resilient and powerful carcass. And they want a scientifically constructed Non Skid tread with all angles and contacts to resist skidding and give sure traction. Firestone Cord Tires have met these demands of the car owners.

Cord Tires built the Firestone way could not fail to produce mileage. Every day, from all over the country, comes the word that 10,000, 20,000 or 30,000 miles are frequent and consistent records.

Gentlemen—

Gentlemen—
It occurs to me that you might be interested in the mileage that I obtained from a set of Firestone Cord tires on my Dodge coupe. The first tire went over 29,000 miles. The second tire rolled up a mileage of between 24,000 and 25,000. These were both rear tires and had been cut considerably by chains. The two front tires have gone better than 35,000 miles and are still in good condition. I expect to get at least 40,000 miles from each of them. I need scarcely say that the Firestone Cord will be my tire choice for the future.

ROCHESTER WOMAN TELLS EXPERIENCE

"I suffered for ten years from nervous indigestion. I had no appetite and always felt miserable. I was in such a serious condition I thought my time for this world was getting short. My food didn't seem to nourish me at all and I only weighed 85 pounds."

"After taking Tanlac, I now weigh 108 and am gaining every day. Oh! there is such a wonderful change now. Tanlac relieved my troubles so quickly it surprised me. My appetite is splendid. I have plenty of strength and feel better than I have in years. I wouldn't take one thousand dollars for what Tanlac did for me."

The above statement was made by Mrs. Clara Lehman, Bristol Hotel, Rochester, N. Y.

Tanlac is sold by A. L. Clark Drug Co., Norway; Stowell Bros., Locke's Mills; E. E. Pinkham, East Waterford; W. H. Brown, East Stoneham; Heald, Stearns & Kimball, Lovell; H. L. Hutchins Co., North Fryeburg; L. R. Rounds & Co., Waterford, and P. G. Barrett, Welchville, Me.

The apple thieves are evidently as busy as of old. Horace Hussey lost all the apples from a tree which bore choice eating apples. These apples were to have been sent to his son Elmer and a friend Dr. Metcalf of Wickford, R. I. but on going to gather them in, Mr. Hussey found some one had already been there before him and "licked the platter clean," as not an apple was left.

O. G. French has also lost a quantity of his best McIntosh apples which grew near the road. Evidence points that the thief who took Mr. French's apples drove a "lizzy" or some other kind of a buzz wagon.

THE STANDARD OF BUSINESS PRACTICE WHICH THIS STORE ENDEAVORS TO CLOSELY FOLLOW:

"The first standard is the conception of a store as a semi-public institution with every distinct and increasingly definite duties, as well as privilege of public service."

It is with this thought of public service and duty to the public that inspiration is gathered each day to go forward; to conceive and execute new plans; to broaden the scope of our usefulness; to more nearly approach the ideal store service.

It is the question of an excellent and unquestionably pleasing service that prompts us to have those in their respective professions to assist in the management of the different departments.

Supreme Judicial Court
ance, and Alton C. Wheeler, an associate attorney, handled the case. He frankly admitted not being prepared in the absence of the principal counsel. Attorney Wheeler explained the facts leading to the suit, basing his opening to the jury on disclosures in the writ.

The material and personal injuries as charged occurred on the highway in Porter a hill near Libby's Corner on November 26, 1919. A defective highway was alleged to be responsible, after the plaintiff had notified the town fathers of its alleged dangerous condition. The original written notice could not be found and a document purporting to be a copy was not identified for a certainty. The defendant represented by Walter P. Perkins and Frederick R. Dyer submitted no testimony on the stand.

Two cases, practically one and the same although presented with two writs were that of Mrs. Mary A. Andrews vs. Andrew A. Jenkins for $1,000. All parties reside at Park Hill. The first case is to collect damages for an accident that occurred October 1, 1919, on the highway between the Paris Hill road and Park street bridge. The plaintiff alleges through careless operation of an automobile by the defendant, she was forced to alight from the car to quiet her horse, and received a broken leg. The suit brought by her husband in the sum of $1,000 is to recover the expense of surgical and medical treatment, and other bills incidental to the accident.

The plaintiff charges the defendant obstructed his Ford touring car with empty barrels along the running board, the radiator and elsewhere. In so doing he could not obtain a clear view of the highway, therefore was driving recklessly when she tried to pass him, and the horse became frightened. Evidence was introduced which gave the story of the accident in detail, also the surgical treatment at her home and subsequent treatment in a hospital. Dr. D. M. Stewart of South Paris, a surgeon treating the injury, from the time Mrs. Andrews was found in the highway until several weeks later, offered testimony relative to the nature of the fracture.

The position held by the defence as outlined to the jury by Walter L. Gray was a denial of all charges of carelessness on Mr. Jenkins' part; that the view was not obstructed with barrels as alleged, and due care was exercised by his client while passing the plaintiff and her team. Before the defence introduced any witnesses, the same car loaded exactly as on the day of the accident, was shown the jury in the court house yard. The case continued into Thursday. Alton C. Wheeler for the plaintiffs, Walter L. Gray and Frederick R. Dyer for the defence.

Naturalization
Eleven applicants for admission to citizenship were examined by Judge Dunn, nine gave satisfactory evidence of an ability to enjoy the privileges of a true citizen. The case of two were continued, one for inability to read English readily, the other for not presenting satisfactory witnesses as vouchers for good character, and other desirable qualities.

Judge Dunn in his examinations was no stickler for technical points of the Constitution or for abstractions. Good character, industry, ability to read and write English, an agreeable home life, and a working knowledge of government fundamentals were among the requirements. The applicants were handled in an easy manner which won their confidence from the beginning. Each was impressed with the fact of citizenship in our country, meaning something real and the greatest honor one could receive. The following took the oath of allegiance.

Edward Warren, aged 26, residence, Upton. Native of Prince Edward Island. Occupation, lumber scaler, married.

George William Smith, aged 38. Residence, Norway. Native Nova Scotia. Occupation blacksmith, married.

"Few men take the same interest in Y. M. C. A. officers or know as many Y. M. C. A. boys personally as does Walter E. Ricker, who has just completed a term of four years' service, as elevator man, and who is likely to stay on the job a long time if the wishes of those connected with the Association and if those who occupy the offices in the building are consulted. Mr. Ricker is also a great favorite with the general public as well as the occupants of the building."

OH! MY STOMACH

"I had stomach trouble so badly that nothing I ate would digest as it should," said Sade E. Hamilton, Portland, Me., as she began a remarkable story of the relief she has secured from Argo-Phosphate, the new reconstructive, stomach tonic and system purifier.

"Everything that I ate would lie in my stomach like a lump," she explained. "I would vomit and I would suffer distress all the time. I got so I could hardly keep anything down. Trying to get relief, I had my stomach pumped out, but even this did not help me as I continued just as bad.

"I kept hearing so much about Argo-Phosphate that I thought maybe it might help me and I decided to try it. I have taken two bottles and to my surprise I am already feeling fine. I can eat anything and I am not troubled at all.

"I am completely rid of my old stomach trouble that I had for three years. I have not felt so well for years and I am certainly glad to endorse Argo-Phosphate because I want others to be helped by this wonderful medicine."

"The spirit of wanting to help others is what makes suffering men and women give these splendid public endorsements of Argo-Phosphate," said a local druggist.

JOY BROUGHT INTO HOME

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Restoring Mrs. Benz to Health

Altoona, Pa.—"I am writing to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. We have had six children die almost at birth. From one hour to nineteen days in all they have lived. As I was going to have another, I took a dozen bottles of your Vegetable Compound and I can say that it is the greatest medicine on earth, for this baby is now four months old and a healthier baby you would not want. I am sending you a picture of her. Everybody says, 'That is some healthy looking baby.' You have my consent to show this letter."—Mrs. C. W. Benz, 131 3rd Ave., Altoona, Pa.

No woman can realize the joy and happiness this healthy babe brought into the home of Mrs. Benz, unless they have had a like experience.

Every woman who suffers from any ailments peculiar to her sex, as indicated by backaches, headaches, bearing-down pains, irregularities, nervousness and "the blues," should not rest until they have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

Mrs. Clara M. Elliott

The dead body of Mrs. Clara M. Elliott was found reclining on the stairs at her home on Crescent street late Friday afternoon. A neighbor, Mrs. Frank Cox, went to the house on an errand between four and five o'clock. She discovered the body in a natural position and clothed as usual. She called for Dr. J. B. Bradbury, who arrived at five o'clock. He found the body in the same position and called for Dr. L. Bartlett, who arrived at six o'clock. Dr. Bartlett viewed the remains. Apoplexy is given as the cause of her death.

Mrs. Elliott lived alone and the exact time of her death is unknown. She was last seen alive Thursday about 5 o'clock, although the time has not been positively settled. She made several purchases down town, these were found on a table, and her coat and hat were on a chair where she left them. Her dress at the throat had been loosened, possibly to relieve pain, and the position of the body would indicate the end came suddenly while resting on the stairs. Her age was 63 years, 8 months, 23 days.

The deceased was the daughter of Wellington and Ann Bent Dudley, born in South Paris, January 15, 1853. She spent her early years in South Paris and was educated in the schools of that town. After her marriage to Frank Q. Elliott of Norway on January 15, 1881, she came to Norway and here resided except for two winters spent in Orlando, Florida.

Her husband died on November 6, 1919, and since then she has occupied her home alone. Mrs. Elliott was well informed on historical subjects of local interest, and had collected many valuable clippings relating to events and persons more or less before the local public in the past years.

She attended the Universalist Church and had been treasurer of the Woman's Relief Corps for twenty-six years.

She leaves an aged brother in the West, who so far as known, is the only survivor in the immediate family.

Services were held at 1 o'clock, Rev. C. G. Miller of South Paris officiating. Burial was beside the remains of her late husband at Rumford Center. The bearers were Hon. B. G. McIntire, Guy Curtis, Victor Whitman and H. B. Foster.

Sulphite Superintendent Visits

Chas. W. Waterhouse of Ironquois Falls, Ontario has been calling on Norway relatives after an absence of several years. He is superintendent of the sulphite mills of the Abitibi Power and Paper Co., Ltd. of Ottawa, Ontario, having been with them for the past three and a half years.

As a boy we knew him as a clerk in the grocery store of Frank H. Noyes. He is a son of the late George H. Whitehouse who moved from Norway to Bowdoin, thirty odd years ago. He learned the paper making and sulphite business with his uncle, Francis H. Whitehouse, at the Bowdoin Paper Mills.

The Abitibi Mills are turning out about 500 tons of newsprint paper per day, also 150 tons of pulp. They employ about a thousand hands and there are 3,000 people in the village. There are no roads except in the settlement and they boast of only three automobiles. They have trails and dog teams with plenty of snow and cold weather. The thermometer occasionally registered 50 degrees below. He likes, even if the sun shines 18 hours out of the 24 in the summer and is correspondingly dark in the winter. The Ironquois River flows north and empties in Hudson Bay and fish and game abound and we are promised a great outing in visiting that country. A good deal of mining is being done in that vicinity.

Alton Perkins of Oxford, general trader and wagon jockey was in town Monday, collecting material for future business transactions.

J. H. Stuart is having the Irving Frost house, painted outside. Many repairs have been made there by the new owner which have greatly improved the property.

James Pledge is having his building painted. Josiah Witham's crew are doing the job.

D. W. Goodwin and Son have just had their herd of 23 cows tested by Dr. Irvin P. Symons, finding them in perfect health and extra good condition.

SUMNER

Rollin Stetson is serving as jury man during the present term of court.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buck of Canton were recent over night visitors at Henry Davenport's.

Frank Benson has purchased a bound puppy of Henry Davenport, Jr.

Henry Davenport has had a telephone installed in his house.

Henry Coolidge was a recent visitor at Everett Coolidge's.

John Oldham of Peru was a recent visitor of friends in town.

SOUTH PARIS

Mrs. Ellen T. Jackson

After some years of feeble health Mrs. Ellen T. Jackson died at her home in South Paris Friday morning. Mrs. Jackson was the daughter of David and Eunice (Brown) Jordan, and was born in South Paris April 17, 1839. She was one of the first students at the old Oxford Normal Institute, and one of the last survivors of those who attended that school in its early days.

She married Jarius A. Jackson, and their home was for years on Paris Hill. Mr. Jackson died about forty-five years ago. Mrs. Jackson leaves two daughters, Mrs. Dabie E. wife of E. W. Dutton of Bethel, and Mrs. Charlotte E. Rawson, formerly of South Paris, now of Monmouth. There are four grandchildren, Shirley J. Rawson of Mexico, Mrs. Percy P. Allen of South Paris, Mrs. F. W. Tirrell of Turner, and Mrs. Ceylon Kimball of Bethel. There are three great-grand children. Mrs. Jackson is survived by one sister, Mrs. Langmade of Danville.

The funeral at 1 o'clock Sunday was attended by Rev. Chester Gore Miller. Burial was in Riverside Cemetery.

Fred E. Cushman, employed at Cole's cement block yard, fell and struck his forehead on a corner of an iron wheelbarrow. The wound has become infected, which causes trouble with his eyes and is keeping him from work.

G. H. Danks of Jackson, N. H., is visiting Fred G. Davis and family on Pine street for a few days.

Street girders and other iron for the new I. O. O. F. block have arrived and been hauled to the lot.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Morton motored to Portland, Monday, on a business trip. Frank McGinley was home from Bates College for a brief visit, Sunday.

A series of ridiculous complications with a mother-in-law and negro servants, promises many laughs. The play will be given the evenings of the Grange Fair, October 20-21.

It Is Here Today See It-Ride In It

Think of a light, economical, moderate priced car that does these things.

That is so fleet and smooth in its response to your will you are never conscious that it is a piece of machinery.

That is so easily operated you can guide it for hours through crowded city traffic or send it across country for a whole day's run without the usual fatigue to driver or passenger.

That is so reliable that attention with an oil can virtually constitutes its sole service requirement.

Such was the aim and such is the achievement—

The New and Improved ESSEX

Get a New and Joyous Thrill in Motoring

Old Essex drivers sense the difference as soon as they take the wheel.

Its speed and acceleration and endurance are known to them. Others may not be so familiar with these Essex qualities. Their surprise and delight will be all the greater.

But old owners, who know the Essex will be charmed at the smoother way the New Improved Essex does the things that gives them pride in their cars.

More Economy Than Ever

From the first Essex appealed to men because it does what costlier and larger cars do and at small car cost in fuel, oil and tires.

The New Improved Essex adds gasoline mileage. Oil economy is greater, although old Essex cars averaged around 300 miles to the quart. Its tires often gave 10,000 to 15,000 miles of service. Now cord tires are standard equipment and greatly increase tire mileage.

Old Essex owners hardly understand how reliability could be increased. Many—hundreds in fact—report upwards of 30,000 and 40,000 miles of service, with incredibly small repair bills as judged by the usual requirements of motor car operation.

But the new improved Essex lengthens the period of that service. Simple and inexpensive ways to replace parts as they wear are provided. Thus the tight, squeak-free and rattle-free qualities and lively performance of the Essex when new, may be retained throughout the life of the car. And how long an Essex may be relied upon to serve, needs more years for proof than opportunity has yet provided.

A Better Car for Less Money

All the advantages of the original Essex are retained. The pride of ownership is greater. You can turn it in narrow streets. It finds room in small parking spaces. It is small and light and yet commodious, safe and comfortable.

The New Improved Essex expresses the new day meaning of refinement—of reduced weight—freedom from unnecessary bulk, and the finest mark of motoring luxury.

When Essex is considered, size and price do not mark the standard of car quality or value.

We want you to know that—a ride will prove it.

WATERFORD FAIR

Just back home from the old "world's fair," I found my home with my Eliza, I found it. The folks was everywhere, I surely did surprise her. You see, Eliza, I came to me, And I came to her some, And the old girl, she says, says she, "Where'd all these folks come from?"

We started up the promenade, And Eliza said "twice folly, For with a man I made a trade To buy a baby dolly."

He gave to me a long card-board, And took from me a quarter. "You're bound to win," at me he roared, "At any rate, you'd oughta!"

I bought all that fellow's in sight, To stop that fellow's ravings, At last I bought a doll outright, It took most all my savings.

And then Eliza says to me, "If money you must throw round, I think much better it would be To ride the merry-go-round."

I helped her on a dapple gray, And I climbed up beside her, And Eliza, she looked just as gay, "The crowd let me be roared, She smiled on me with cheeks so pink, It filled me with emotion."

Right fore that crowd, I didn't think! "My land! It made my head whirl To see that crowd of folks close in. Next thing, we saw the 'fat girl,' A fortune lass made eyes at me, But Eliza kept me moving."

And by her glance—well, I could see Her manner was reproving. And then we saw the cattle pull, "Who-hi-hi! Gee buck! Howsee Line!" They had a steer yoked with a bull, Tell you, they yoked a bee-line.

They hauled the drag clear out of sight, The crowd let such a roar, Those cattle ran away in fright, Way out to Number Four.

And so we wandered, arm in arm, To see the exhibition, Of all the products from the farm At this great exposition.

And there we saw the crazy quilts, The pumpkins and fine dishes, Preserves fit for the Vanderbilts, Or anybody's wishes.

And then to make the day complete, I took my Eliza Nancy Up stairs, and in a manner neat, We danced the Portland fancy.

And now we're just back home again, I'll say, I do declare it, Just count on me and Eliza when They have the next world's fair, sir.

They have the next world's fair, sir, Fryeburg, Me., October 3, 1921.

RAYMOND HATCHERY AND SEBAGO LAKE

Sebago Lake fishermen have been under the impression that a large part of the salmon hatched at the Raymond Hatchery, have been taken away from the Sebago waters and distributed in other parts of the State. The Governor has taken this matter up with Commissioner Willis B. Parsons and the following figures will show just what has been done during the past ten years.

During the ten-year period, 1910 to 1920, 9,470,000 landlock salmon eggs were taken in Sebago Lake waters. Of these 5,890,000 have been shipped from the hatchery, most of them going to Cumberland and York counties and to a few lakes in lower Oxford county.

To offset these shipments 6,554,900 trout and salmon eggs, and one and two-year old fish, have been sent into the Sebago district from other State hatcheries, so that 664,900 more eggs and fish have been sent into Sebago Lake than have been taken from the Raymond Hatcheries.

From these figures it will be seen that the waters of Sebago Lake have been taken unusually good care of by the Commissioner of Inland Fish and Game and should encourage the fishermen who go to these famous fishing grounds.

ADVERTISER OFFICE,

(Communication) TAXATION AND HIGH COST OF LIVING

The act of the Legislature of Pennsylvania taxing every ton of coal prepared for export from that state has kicked up quite a little rumpus, particularly in New England, and the attorney general from these States with the officials of the U. S. Government and the authorities of Pennsylvania are to have a conference over the matter. The Constitution of the United States says: (Sec. 14, Art. 5) "No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any State." In this age of unlawful and wicked profiteering such conferences heretofore appear to have been of but little moment. The law seems plain enough in this case and in many others, yet the people are not getting the relief that they are entitled to. A committee of Congress investigated the coal question last spring, which reported that the coal operators were making big profits and were responsible for the unusual and unnecessary high price of coal in times of peace—in plain English robbing the people—but nothing has so far been done about it. And now the coal profiteers have raised the price 50c on a ton. Let's see! Wm. M. Sweed when it was shown that he and his gang were robbing the people of New York City, once said: "What are you going to do about it?" He and others finally went to prison for it. That was the answer to his brazen question.

The Brockton, Mass., tax rate this year is $34.90 on a valuation of $1,000—"the highest ever." The Weymouth, Mass., tax rate is $29.25—a decrease of 75c from last year. The Wakefield, Mass., tax rate is $35 for $1,000—"one of the highest in the state, and the highest the town ever had." The Newton tax rate is $24 per $1,000—"a reduction of $3.20 from last year."

The Burden of City Taxes

It is not many years since a Massachusetts city with a tax rate in excess of twenty dollars on a thousand was regarded as placing exceptional burdens upon its inhabitants. Increases already announced in the rate per thousand run as high as seven dollars. Taxpayers find that out of what it saved through declining costs of the necessities of life a substantial contribution must be made to meet the increased cost of running the cities. While the cost of family housekeeping has been reduced, the cost of municipal housekeeping has gone up. Local taxation bids fair to eat up all that is saved by reduction in national taxation, direct and indirect. It is claimed that the revenue bill now pending in Congress will effect an average saving of thirty-five dollars a family. The man who owns a house taxed on a valuation of $5,000, if the rate is raised seven dollars on the thousand, finds as the result of the increase that he is paying into the city treasury in advance his family share of the national saving. And it goes without saying that many of those who hire houses and apartments will find the increase in local taxation reflected in the rent bills.—Boston Transcript.

Mr. Chester Jordan of Portland, Me., is the author of a tax scheme for the government of the U. S. which Congressman Ogden Mills of New York appears to have "patented," and introduced as a bill in the lower house. It is in short a tax imposed on expenditures. It would work something like this: If the tax say, was one per cent. on the head of a family on $1,000, it would be but $10; on $5,000 but $50; on $10,000, $100; on $100,000, $1,000, etc. No tax on expenditures for a less sum than $1,000. The tax would fall upon the rich and well to do, as it should, while the poorer classes would be exempt.

Hon. Wm. R. Greene of Iowa, a member of the Committee of Ways and Means, relating to this tax scheme, said: "I think the only trouble with the gentlemen's tax on expenditures is that he is 10, 15 or 20 years ahead of the times. I think he is right, but it would work a perfect revolution in our form of taxes and the Committee was afraid to undertake it at this time." The tax instead of being a level one on all sums might be graduated. Money extravagantly and uselessly expended should be taxed at a constantly increasing rate." Such a law as a tax on expenditures would be an enormous revenue producer.

U. S. Senator King of Utah in a recent speech in the Senate declared the "retailers and manufacturers in every State had illegally combined to maintain high prices," and that "the Atty. General should send to the penitentiary thousands of conspirators responsible for paralysis of trade."

Retail food prices in the country in September dropped from August quotations. They are "still much above those of 1918," in New York 57 per cent., Washington, 65 per cent. and in Chicago, 55 per cent. The wheat crop in the United States this year is 150,000,000 bushels over that of 1920.

NORWAY AND VICINITY

MID-SUMMER DAYS IN CASCO BAY No. 2

On the easterly end of Great Diamond Island is the U. S. Reservation, on which are the fortifications called Fort McKinley, and the barracks, all built of brick, for officers and men. The buildings are on a continuation of the ridge, through the center of the island, which is considerably lower on the Government land. A strong high post and wire fence encloses it. The main entrance is by carriage road. Two great mortar guns are on each side of this road at this place. One is struck with the clean streets and neatly trimmed lawns. Here and there are flower and vegetable gardens and strange as it may seem, the merry voices of children at play are heard. Many of the officers and men have their families with them. It is a village in miniature. There is a little burying place where one sees quite a number of grave stones, showing that some of the soldiers and members of their families had found a last resting place here.

A government boat runs, daily from the city to all places in the bay, where U. S. soldiers are stationed. It carries all supplies as needed. A bakery furnishes all the bread, pies, doughnuts, etc., required by the garrison. The soldiers have a tennis court and a fine ball field. The latter appeared to have fallen into disuse. This probably was owing to the small number of men now stationed there. There are less than 125 officers and men. Last year some 250. During the war, there were 2,500, I was told. One of the men was a soldier by the name of Sherman. He was a cottage on the island outside of the government reservation and has a family. His wife was a Virginia woman and he has there a place that cost him $5,000. He has been in the military service of the U. S. for nearly 19 years and is going to stay two more when he will be entitled to a good pension and probably go back to his Virginia home. Sherman has been all over the world and for a time was stationed in the Philippines. I was delighted with his stories of army life.

The reservation is an ideal place for military fortifications. A little bay makes into the land on the extreme eastern end of the island where a wharf and store house have been erected. West of this bay is a little pond where ice is obtained in the winter. There is sufficient depth of water at the wharf to float the government boats even at low tide. At high tide it is eight or ten feet higher.

The ridge through the island spreads out into three parts and has two little valleys making into the land. Part of the fortifications—the strongest—are built on the southernmost ridge. Here are the long big "disappearing" guns, pointing seaward. At an angle of about 45 degrees, shots from these guns will demolish a target, five miles or more out to sea. If they are elevated to some sixty-five degrees, they will throw balls or shells twice as far.

Over the ridge to the north from the bay in the little valley mentioned were other fortifications. In them were several big mortar guns.

The embankment where the long guns were was a favorite place for looking out to the open sea and I frequently went there. One day I went there with some friends for the day, taking our lunch that we might enjoy for several hours the splendid ocean view. As we sat or reclined on the grass we were out of view of the guns. By and by I heard a rumbling underneath us and I knew that preparations had begun to fire the guns. Several red targets in shape like an Indian wigwam, had been towed out to sea and located. As I hadn't asked permission to be there, I thought it prudent to get my friends out of sight as quickly as possible. Afterwards learned that we might have witnessed the target practice from a fine point of view on a bluff at the westward and I very much regretted our hasty departure. We crossed lots by a well trodden path through the ball field and woods and were well on our way home when we heard the gun fired. Next year the target practice is the sight I'll most want to see. May some of our closest friends be there too, to see it.

This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a Tonic and Blood Purifier, and acts through the blood upon the mucous surfaces of the body, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

SWEDEN

Neal Aaron Jones
Neal Aaron Jones, whose tragic death, caused by the accidental discharge of his gun while duck-shooting on Kezar lake has already been briefly noted in the Advertiser, was the son of Clarence and Luella Jones of Sweden, and would have been twenty-one years of age Nov. 15, 1921.

He was fond of hunting and had been accustomed to the use of firearms for several years. On Thursday P. M. Sept. 29th, he started in a boat of his own construction, for he was of an ingenious turn of mind, to look for ducks. As he did not return a searching party was sent out and he was found in his boat on the shore opposite his starting place, on Friday A. M. in a serious condition from the effect of wounds in his chest.

His parents hastened to the spot and when his mother reached his side he managed to say "Mother, I'm all right" an expression he often used when others were anxious about him.

Dr. Allen of Lovell was called and he was taken to Bridgton hospital where he passed quietly away.

Neal was of a cheerful, optimistic nature. No grievance, real or fancied, ever rankled in his mind. He had only kind words for everyone and always a cheery, hearty greeting for all his friends and acquaintances. Recalling these traits one thinks of the character of Abner Ben Adhem who, because he "loved his fellow-men", was blessed by love of God above all others.

He had a natural talent and love for music and drawing. Fearless and brave he seemed never to think of personal danger and his youthfulness and his patriotism would have led him to enlist in the World War.

Funeral services were held at the home of his aunt Mrs. Geo. Marr, in North Bridgton, where Rev. W. A. Richmond spoke words of comfort breathing the loving sympathy of the Master for the sorrowful and suffering. In the little Cemetery in the Black Mt. district of Sweden, there were prayers at the grave, made beautiful by flowers and autumn leaves the tender expression of sympathy by kind neighbors, who with many friends from far and near had gathered to show their regard for the dead and to weep with the stricken parents over the untimely death of their beloved son.

And we have one coming the latter part of next week, Sir James M. Barrie's "Sentimental Tommy," made by John S. Robertson of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," fame for Paramount. It's a lovable picture made from some of the most lovable books ever written, starting with an imaginative youngster and carrying him into manhood.
